關於長島文協中文學校

歷史

長島文協中文學校(CCALI)於1979年在 West Hempstead Long Island Chinese Cultural Center由數位自臺灣移民美國的家長成立。因為人數逐年增加，場地不敷使用，於1986年遷至紐約理工學院(NYIT)迄今。同年長島中華文教協會正式向紐約州政府登記立案，成為一個非營利、非宗教、非政治的機構，致力宣揚中華文化，並為下一代華裔子弟開闢一個學習中文和文化認同的場所。

教學宗旨

文協的教學宗旨在於啟發學生學習中文的興趣，培養中文聽、說、讀、寫的能力；並以推展海外中文教育為目的，傳承中國固有文化為宗旨。

文化推廣

文協參與很多文藝活動，推廣文化到社區，例如長島亞裔文化節。藉由這個機會，我們的學生和教職員透過藝術、手工藝、舞蹈和歌唱表演來展現中華文化的內涵和傳承。

在2014年，長島文協榮獲來自納蘇郡政府(Nassau County)的褒揚，推崇我們學校對社區的經濟、社會和文化的貢獻。

About CCALI

The Chinese Cultural Association of Long Island (CCALI) & Chinese School first opened its doors in 1979 with only a few students. Classes were held on Saturdays at the West Hempstead Long Island Chinese Cultural Center. Over the years, enrollment increased and in 1985, the Chinese School moved to its present location at the NYIT Old Westbury campus. As the Chinese School brought together a greater number of families in the Chinese community, the function of CCALI broadened to include the dissemination of the Chinese culture and the elevation of ethnic Chinese welfare in Long Island. In 1986, CCALI officially became a New York State non-profit community organization.

In recent years, CCALI membership expanded rapidly as a result of the influx of ethnic Chinese on Long Island, as well as, the growing interest in learning Chinese. Our students are not only locals from Long Island, but as far as Manhattan and Queens. Our School has an annual enrollment of over 200 students with more than 30 teachers.

CCALI's mission is to educate future generations about the Chinese language and culture and to expand Chinese cultural exchange in our society.

In 2014, CCALI was honored with a Citation from Nassau County in recognition of our economic, social and cultural contribution to our community.

Beyond Academic Performance

At the end of the school year, during CCALI's open house and open class day, students will showcase what they have learned to parents and guests. As a member of the Association of Chinese Schools, our students are able to participate in regional competitions where they have received awards in Chinese culture, speech, multi-media, poster design and Chinese Yo-Yo contests.
